GOD IS LOVE AND NOTHING ELSE.

PRAISE THE LORD.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

[The great length of Bro. Barnes' last letter got us a little behind in his correspondence, but we will publish it all if it takes all the summer.]

DAYTON, KY., SEPT. 24, 1888.

DEAR INTERIOR:—Delightful indeed has been our past two weeks' experience. In the first place we have had a gloriously successful meeting, whose records will only be fully unfolded when "the books are opened." For the present, we have known as much as we are well able to bear, of sinners saved; saints uplifted and bodies healed. "Spirit, soul and body" are in bondage and our gospel aims to set all free. It has reached its mark, most memorably, in these river towns of Bellevue and Dayton, with many from Covington and Newport thrown in. Our Hall is in Bellevue, our "home" is in Dayton. These growing places are mainly "dormitories" of the great city across the Ohio river; with little individuality of their own. Very few places of business here, and they only to supply, strictly, local and temporary wants. The people do their shopping, and largely their marketing, in Cincinnati; and it would not pay to attempt competition, with the grand establishments within such easy reach of purchasers.

Next, we have had delightful welcome and perfect freedom of domestic life in the "Pink Cottage" of our dear Bro. Lay, who opened this elastic home of his and took us all in. He and Sister Lay have made us feel so much that all we saw was ours, to use as we liked, that we have had no wish ungratified. This rare hospitality only comes from the gospel of LOVE and Nothing Else. You are not startled by the intruding thought that there is something behind the curtain, if only it were lifted. He is a fresco artist, but has refused all contracts so long as the meeting lasts. He gives himself wholly to it. He rented the Hall for ten days to begin with; keeps unlimited street car tickets for the use of the Troupe; never lets us spend a cent, when he is with us, that he can prevent; and in every generous way possible bids us thrice welcome in the Name of the LORD. We are greatly touched by the open-hearted hospitality shown us by these Saints. "GIVEN to hospitality" might be inscribed over the door of this Dayton "Pink Cottage." Others, before we came, knew him for "Gaius, mine host," and yet others, after we are gone, will "rise up and call him" and his good wife blessed.

The rooms of this attractive domicile are lavishly decorated by his own hand, in the prettiest style of his beautiful art, and the frescoes would do credit to a $20,000 house. But when love holds the brush, a cottage and palace come together. Where his wife and children are, is the spot where any adornment is in order however elaborate. They have two children—a fine boy of 10 and a baby less than a year old. We all think "Bibbi-teen," as we name her, a wonderful infant; and she is a most patient little one, or she would long since have resented our persistent demonstrations; seeing we devour her with kisses on the slightest provocation. "Jack's" baby at Danville was a darling, whom we became much attached to; and it is good in the LORD to give us another little pet here; not to take her place, but to supplement her in the realm of our hearts, where there is room for all the babies in the world. Our baby goes to church every night; heaves herself like a lady; and her little white bonnet has been an inspiration to us throughout. When Bro. Barnes grows unintelligible or prolix, she goes to sleep, like the sensible "wee lassie" she is; and when we get home she is ready for a romp till bed time. We leave Sister Lay to break her into regular habits again, after all this religious dissipation, and our departure. I am so glad there will be babies in heaven, that will never grow up, but be the "well springs of pleasure," as Tupper calls them, there, that they have been here. "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," saith the LORD. And again, "There angels do always behold the face of my Father in Heaven," a promise full of joy, whatever the exact meaning of it may be.

Bro. Lay painted his cottage pink. If you enter the sitting-room the first thing that greets the eye above the mantel is a prettily executed bit of lettering, in his own artistic style: "Praise the LORD! God is LOVE and Nothing Else." Over the two doors leading out of the sitting-room there are two inscriptions. One: "I will Come Again." Over the other: "Even so, Come Quickly." From which my intelligent reader will gather what school of theology he prefers. Outsiders call him a "Barnesite." He has already lost money—paying contracts, on account of his connection with the gospel this "Troupe" preaches and sings. Perhaps it may yet cost him more dearly; but he is one of the kind who will "take joyfully the spoiling of his goods" for Jesus' sake; knowing that back of all he has "an enduring inheritance;" that is beyond the reach of "moth" or "rust;" or malignant prejudice. Meanwhile he is an exquisite workman, who loves his beautiful art, and will not swindle you, because he loves the LORD Who is LOVE and Nothing Else. "Love worketh its neighbor so ill," and needs no watching. You couldn't bribe love to do a wrong. If men would only settle contracts on a moral instead of a so-called "business" basis, how many thousands of dollars would be saved? But I grant you "average christianity" is not to be trusted, and the rogues are many who superintend Sunday-schools; and preside at Y. M. C. A. meetings; and even lead classes and preach eloquently. But no one who REALLY believes God is LOVE and Nothing Else is caught napping thus by the "roaring lion," because he who "KEEPS HIMSELF in the LOVE of God," that "wicked one touches not;" for the simple reason that the LORD in turn keeps him safely.

The great scandals that have crept into the Church, came in over the back of false teaching, as to God's character. "If God does wrong, why may not I?" has wrought more mischief than can be told. Once and again have I heard business men say, "I would rather deal with an infidel than a christian," so common have these defections among christians become. Cannot even the purblind see that there must be a taproot cause for all this? I find it in LOW THEORIES of God. Once admit that God robbed the Egyptians by sacred right, and you have, full-blown, the morality of the Puritans, in robbing the Indians of his ancestral acres: "The earth belongs to the Saints; we are the Saints." "Lo! the poor Indian," vanishing from the scene. The absconding cashier, or pious defaulting treasurer finds solace as he thinks, whatever his shortcomings, they cannot begin to compare with the peculations of the "Blessed God," Who turned the Canaanites out of house and home to make room for His chosen, just because He chose to do it. Election—without reason beyond His OWN WILL—covers all the ground.

No wonder such a tree bears such fruit; and that Calvin chanted the Canticles, as his victim Servetus roared before a green-wood fire! When will dogma-possessed souls assert their rights and regain their freedom? "How long, oh! LORD, how long!" cries the weary and heavy-laden believer.

Our dear friends of former years—the Stoddards, of Brookville, Ind.,—came over to see us, and gave us a Macedonian cry to "come over and help" them. We had not seen the doctor since we parted in Shakelwell Lane, London, in '83. It was a joyful meeting all around. They have sailed over tempest-tossed seas since we met, but are now in smoother waters, and looking forward to lives of increased usefulness in the vineyard of the LORD. We expect to go to Brookville next, God willing. It is only about 40 miles out of Cincinnati. The Hoosiers are mad on politics just now, but we hope to edge in a little gospel, and do them some good, if not much. We have met, off and on, many Kentuckians from various parts of the State. It is delightful to run up on familiar faces, unexpectedly, in a strange place.

Of course we went to the ever attractive "Zoo." Our old favorites were nearly all there, and a baby jaguar and two half-grown lion cubs had put in an appearance since our last visit in '83. I rather dote on prairie dogs and the amusing colony of these marmots of the Western plains is as attractive as ever. Two of them got up a little "side show" for our special entertainment, consisting in the father of one family circle, or head of one hole, finding his spouse under ground proceeded to bury her in a very energetic fashion by shoveling dirt into the mouth of the family burrow; packing it on her remorselessly; and biting and scratching her nose very energetically whenever she succeeded in pushing up to the surface. It seemed all in fun, however, for after we had laughed at him awhile, he grew tired of his little game; running away to another part of the enclosure and allowing the buried "carrion" to work her way out of her earthen prison-house, which she promptly did, looking very dirty and rumped, in fur and spirits. They are "too cute for anything," as a school girl would express it.

But the attraction of the "Zoo," centres in "Mr. and Mrs. P. Rooney," the most wonderful pair of chimpanzees perhaps in the world. I saw the famous one in the Zoological Gardens of London; and that in the Jardine des Plantes in Paris; with others in Australia and India; but "Mr. and Mrs. Rooney" beat them all. To see them sitting at table, eating with a fork; wiping their mouths with napkins; and going through other motions of civilization, is worth the entrance fee many times over. Then having dined, Mr. Rooney, as "lord of creation," takes the rocking-chair for his siege, leaving one that does not rock as good enough for Mrs. R.—being the "weaker vessel." She tries to make her chair rock, bumps her head against the back of it, as she sees her liege lord do, with his more pliable bit of furniture; and accepts the stiffer position with a grace few of the softer sex, among us, would imitate. The creatures are fearfully human; but the "gulf fixed" is there, that may not be crossed. No education has ever been able to get human speech, or an approximation to it, out of them; however like their vocal organs may be to ours. And no training can stir a SPIRITUAL nature and a SPIRITUAL discernment; for the SPIRIT is not there. God never made a monkey in His "image and likeness." But careless observers, ignorant of the triple nature of mankind, can easily accept Darwin's speculation, as they look upon a well trained chimpanzee. I will add that Mr. Rooney has one eye in mourning, by reason of a curious abnormal growth of a patch of black hair over the left side of his face. It gives him the exact look of one of the "lower orders" of our race, after a fight, in which he has "had the worst of it." I will add further that after the dinner "things" had been cleared away and Mr. Rooney had rocked himself awhile, he mounted the table, where his admirable "cudch" had been displayed to the wondering crowd, and deliberately executed a sort of war-dance, as if to express his personal loathing of civilization and all its cramped ways; and that he thus symbolically trampled on them all. Having relieved himself of this assertion of nature over art, he went through a flying trapeze exercise, like a human monkey would do, and disported himself in other monkeyish ways; plainly telling us that he preferred all this to being stiffly seated at table, with a fork in lieu of fingers, and a napkin substituted for the hairy back of his hand-like paw. Wonderful pair, are Mr. and Mrs. Rooney. Go and see them when you visit Cincinnati.

The closing service was held in the Old Fellows Hall in Newport. The Catholics had engaged our Hall for Sunday night, before our meeting commenced, for a magic lantern exhibition in aid of some charity, and we had to give it up. Our concluding service in Balke's Opera House, Bellevue, was, therefore, held at 3 p. m. Both meetings were fully attended and the dear LORD gave us, as usual, a parting "kiss of His lips" as a send-off to another field.

We shall never cease to feel thankful that He led us to Dayton, through dear Bro. Lay. It has been a glorious series of services, full of blessing to the Troupe and those who so kindly received us and the "ambassadors of Christ." Praise Him forever!

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

FIELD'S MINSTRELS.—The minstrels held high carnival last night. Fun, music and the clever specialties as presented by this company amused the large audience that greeted them. There's a dash and go to the entertainment that keeps the interest of the spectator aroused from first to last. The singing, the dancing, the intricate marches, the music, costumes, etc., are superior in every respect. The company is very strong musically, and much of their success is due to this fact. The fun is pure and wholesome, and if we were to prescribe for a person with the blues we should send them to Field & Co.'s Minstrels. [Ft. Wayne, Ind., Gazette.

DOUBLE NUMBER.—The advertisers get the best of us this time, because when they crowded in it was too late to issue a supplement; but we will head them off and more than compensate our patrons for the absence of the usual quota of reading matter by issuing a double number next Friday.

The royal reception tendered Hon. Henry Watterson on his return to Louisville from the East and North, where he has been for months in the interest of the democratic party, was but a fitting tribute to one of the most distinguished men of his day. Mayor Jacob presided and presented the editor and orator in becoming terms, who spoke eloquently and at length and gave a cheering account of the prospect. Said he: "When I quitted the National Headquarters of the Democracy in the City of New York, the outlook was full of encouragement for the ticket and the issue, and wherever I have been, I have left the democrats laughing and the republicans swearing. It looks to me very bright in New England; very bright in New Jersey; very bright in Michigan; and I shall be much surprised if we don't reduce, and measurably reduce, the republican votes in all the States of the great North west, with a fighting chance to carry Illinois and Minnesota. And now for New York. New York is a democratic State. No matter what may be said about the factions, they are all fighting factions, and their fights are like cat fights, which rarely fail to result in more cats. I do not know how they will fix up things in the City of New York and I confess I do not care very much. The more they differ—the wider they differ—the bigger will be the democratic vote."

HON. J. A. CRAFT, democratic elector for this district, attempted to make a speech at Richmond Monday but his voice failed him and he soon found he was not equal to the occasion. He has not entirely recovered from his long siege with typhoid fever and ought not to have started on the canvass. The Central Committee has been notified of Mr. Craft's inability to meet his appointments and it will no doubt have other speakers go over the district. Col. R. C. Warren has been urged to make a canvass of this district, but owing to the near approach of our circuit court, he will not be able to do so though he will fill as many appointments as possible.

THE New York World refers to Dana, of the Sun, as "that malicious, senile varlet and treacherous foe of the democratic party," and those who have kept up with the course of the Sun during this campaign and ever since Cleveland was made a candidate in 1884, will agree that the appellation fits like the paper on the wall. Dana has outlived his usefulness and might as well be called to sleep with his fathers.

SENATOR BLAIR was rotten-egged at Charlottesville, Va., where he spoke Monday, by some hoodlums, who were immediately arrested and lodged in jail. However much the old fellow may need such treatment, the Virginians do not approve of that method of warfare, and it is hardly possible that the radical papers will be able to make capital out of what all decent men in the Old Dominion denounce.

"BULL DOG BOB," alias Robert Hamilton, has been nominated for Congress by the republicans in Mr. Carlisle's district. He got the beautiful nickname from the fact that he used to manufacture a brand of tobacco known as "Bull Dog," but it is not necessary to state here how the republican candidate in this district came to be called the Little Red Hog.

LEVI has at last sent out his letter of acceptance, the only redeeming point in which is its brevity. The old man is well aware that but little writing or talking from him is expected. His money alone is what the rads are after and but for his bar'l he would never have received the vice-presidential nomination at their hands.

It is sincerely hoped that Gov. Gray, of Indiana, knows what he is talking about. He was in Washington this week and told the President that his State would not vote for Cleveland and Thurman, but would send nine democrats to Congress.

ROGER Q. MILLS, the father of the tariff bill which has scared the radicals into connivings, was renominated for the 9th time by his district in Texas Monday. A prohibition crank thinks he is running against him, but he won't be of the same opinion four weeks hence.

OUR own distinguished Congressman, Gov. McCreary, presided with his usual ability over Congress while Carlisle spoke to the Virginians at Lexington Monday.

THE President approved the Chinese Exclusion Bill and sent along with it a message containing some wise and pertinent suggestions to Congress.

JUDGE DURHAM's report as First Comptroller of the Treasury is out and shows that he has been as usual buckling himself down to hard work. Vouchers amounting to 278,706 have been examined during the year, involving $4,647,220.967, and warrants received, countersigned and numbered 60,832 and involving $1,798,733,451, besides a vast deal of other work too lengthy to enumerate. The report contains some valuable suggestions, which experience has shown and which will no doubt be adopted.

SPEAKING OF Gov. McCreary's frequent occupation of the Speaker's chair, can any one imagine how the little red hog would look or how he would rattle round if by the irony of fate he should ever be called to occupy that chair? Even echoes answer, "No!" The imagination draws the line at attempting such an impossibility.

THE old hens of the republican Senate, after a long setting, have at last hatched out a tariff reduction bill and such a bill! It simply reduces the revenues of the government without affording the people relief and is offered solely to pull the wool over their eyes. It will not become a law.

THERE were 73 new cases and 6 deaths at Jacksonville Wednesday, making 2,806 cases and 270 deaths to date. A slight frost occurred at Decatur and the probability is that the worst is over there.

—Eld. Jesse Walden, State evangelist of the Christian church, went up to Pineville yesterday to hold a meeting, with the view of establishing a church there.

—Rev. Sam Jones is said to be worth over $100,000, all made by his peculiar performances in the pulpit. The public seems to have paid very profusely for the character of the show he has given them.

—The 86th annual session of the Kentucky State Synod will convene at the Presbyterian church in Versailles, Wednesday, October 17th, and will continue one week. The Synod is composed of 6 Presbyteries, and has within its charge 110 ministers and 15,000 communicants.

—The meeting at the Christian church grows in power and increases in visible results, which are the addition so far of 35 to the membership. As a pulpit orator Rev. George Darsie has few superiors in the State and all who hear him are charmed with his beautiful portrayal of the teachings of the Bible. The pastor, Eld. John Bell Gibson, baptized a number near Mr. R. Cobb's yesterday, making 25 in all this meeting. The services will continue over Sunday at any rate, and longer if deemed advisable.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—J. C. Hemphill has been appointed book-keeper by the Mill Co. A good selection.

—L. F. Hubble and J. W. West, attorneys at law, have formed a co-partnership. They will also engage in the real estate business.

—J. H. Brown and W. G. Dunlap are announced to speak at Paint Lick tomorrow night, but Brown will fill Craft's appointment at Mt. Vernon and some one else will meet Dunlap at Paint Lick.

—The Chautauqua Literary Social Circle will meet for organization at Garrard College next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Any one may attend and get information as to the character and purpose of the circle.

—The county court has sold the poor-house farm of 300 acres to W. T. West. The court realized a nice profit on this investment, and will now purchase a smaller farm. The county court affairs are in a prosperous condition, there being a considerable surplus in the treasury.

—A democratic club was organized at Herring's School-House last Saturday night by H. C. Kauffman, M. D. Hughes and James H. Brown, who made rousing speeches. The club, named for Mr. Kauffman, will meet again to-morrow night and be addressed by Messrs. Kauffman and Tomlinson.

—New York has a law requiring that the death penalty shall be inflicted by electricity. Let us have a law that will apply the electrical apparatus to the juries, the high courts and the lawless corrupt lawyers in this State. Touch these functionaries and barristers with a current strong enough to shake out contemptible technicalities, and the old rope is good enough.

—Solicitors from Louisville tobacco warehouses are here in force. Our farmers cultivated about the usual acreage of tobacco and progressed nicely with the crop until the recent frosts. It turns out that there is more damage than at first reported. Fearing frost, many hurried the cutting and left much of their tobacco on sticks in the field, and it is as badly damaged as that left uncured.

—J. A. Craft, elector on the democratic ticket, was on hand Tuesday, but did not fill his appointment to speak, being too ill to do so. His low physical condition, caused by a recent spell of sickness and the very severe and sad bereavement that has befallen him, render it necessary for him to withdraw from the canvass, and return home for the quiet his failing health demands.

—W. S. Miller has this week torn down an old house that has a history, which, if fully written, would contain much interesting matter. It was a one-story log house and more than 70 years ago was occupied as an office by Geo. Robinson, who afterwards became chief justice; by Geo. Letcher, afterwards elected governor of Kentucky, and by Dr. Benjamin Mason, at that time one of the leading physicians of the State. Mr. Miller has a lot adjoining the one where the old house stood, and will erect a handsome brick building on the two.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Mr. Simeon Moore, an old and well known citizen of Boyle county, fell from an apple tree Tuesday and broke his right leg below the knee. Mr. Moore is 72 years old. Dr. J. C. Bogle rendered surgical attention.

—Mr. J. W. Caldwell has returned from Texas and now wishes the INTERIOR JOURNAL sent to this postoffice.

—Mr. T. E. Brown, of Louisville, is an addition to the Danville string band. He is one of the best cornet players in the State and may give lessons on that instrument during the winter.

—Messrs. W. L. Caldwell and C. T. Armstrong, of this county, and Mr. Boone, of Bourbon, were on Wednesday appointed commissioners to divide the landed estate of the late Dr. T. W. Jackson.

There is one tract of nearly 1,600 acres, lying on the Perryville pike, 3½ miles from Danville. Nearly all of it has been in grass for 12 or 14 years.

—Joseph Smith Moore and Walter Boldingbroke contemplate in the near future the establishment of a newspaper in the flourishing business city of Danville. Should they do so, it is the trust of your correspondent that they may amass great wealth. The name of the firm certainly points in that direction.

—Mrs. W. H. King, dangerously ill for some weeks, is now thought to be improving.

—Mr. J. R. Upton and Miss Mary Carmichael obtained marriage license Wednesday.

—Deputy Sheriff Bailey took to the penitentiary Wednesday John Higgins, grand larceny, 1 year; Tom Harris, forgery, 2 years; George Brown, detaining a woman, 2 years.

—John G. Lynn sold to Cyrus Jones 21 75-pound shoats at 5 cts.

—A brutal policeman at Henderson shot and killed a little boy who ran from him when he tried to stop him from hanging on to a street car.

—The Richmond Exposition was formally opened Wednesday in the presence of 20,000 people. Mrs. Gov. Leaset the machinery in motion by touching an electric button.

THE first dispatch to hoist the cold wave signal was sent out from Washington at 11:15 Tuesday and was promptly verified. The mercury went down to 38° that night and the whole face of the earth was white with frost Wednesday morning. FOR shooting Byas McGuffey, as reported in last issue, Dr. R. B. Mullins was tried here Tuesday and held in $100 to the Circuit Court. Bill Allen Baugh, who was with him at the time, was acquitted.

OWSLEY & CRAIG are spreading themselves this season in the mercantile line and also spread themselves over a good deal of space in this issue. It will be to your interest to read what they have to say and then call on them.

WE will have our regular fall and winter opening on Thursday next, Oct. 11, and cordially invite the ladies of Stanford and vicinity to be present and examine our complete stock of everything in the millinery line. Courts & Cox.

FASHIONABLE clothing, city styles, for men and boys made to order by John H. Craig & Son, with Browning, King & Co. New York, and Wanamaker & Brown, Philadelphia; 1,000 foreign and American fabrics to select from. No fit—no sale.

THE report that Capt. Higgins Kelley had been killed by the cars at Junction City is, we are glad to say, untrue, tho' he had a narrow escape. He was walking on the L. & N. track, when a freight train came along, and although it whistled repeatedly his deafness prevented him from taking warning and it ran him down. Fortunately the pilot struck him in such a manner as to push him off and escaped death, though he is pretty badly bruised up, but will recover.

HORRIBLE.—Nellie, the bright little daughter of Mrs. John D. Carpenter, suffered an accident Monday evening, which will injure her for life, if it does not cause her death. She was playing in a drawer, where she found a Smith & Wesson 38-calibre pistol, and in taking it out the hammer struck the side, firing it off with fearful result. The ball struck in her temple, passed through one eye, destroying it, and ranging around the forehead, buried itself in the skull above the other, from whence it was with difficulty taken by Drs. Brown, Alcorn and Johnstone. The brain was penetrated and portions of it oozed out of the opening. At last accounts the little sufferer was doing tolerably well and was conscious when aroused out of the stupor she lies in for a greater part of the time.

THE Court of Claims finally adjourned Wednesday, after allowing, we understand, some $1,500 less than in 1887. Among the large claims allowed are to Mrs. Sue Holmes, for keeping the poor-house, $2,143.90, which is less than last time, and $780 to Jailer Sam Owens for keeping the county prisoners. The doctors, as usual, came in with very large bills for attending paupers, but many of them were cut, some as much as half of the amounts claimed. W. M. Bright was reelected treasurer and Dr. O. H. McRoberts jail physician, both without opposition. Dr. W. M. Doores, who has been poor-house physician for several years, was defeated by Dr. J. D. Pettus 13 to 0, although their bids were $97.25 and $125 respectively. F. F. Bobbitt offered for poor-house keeper and urged his claims in an "eloquent appeal," but the court was so well satisfied with the management of the institution by Mrs. Sue Holmes that they elected her for the third term, the vote standing 12 to 1 in her favor, notwithstanding Bobbitt's bid was $80 a year for boarding adults and $33 for children, against hers of $65 and $40 respectively. This is a highly deserved compliment to Mrs. Holmes, who has proved herself more than worthy of the trust imposed in her. She is a highly accomplished lady and deserves the highest praise for the successful manner in which she has fought the battle of life singly and alone. A committee was appointed to survey the Turnersville & Vandever's turnpike from McCormack's Church to Knob Lick and report when completed. Sheriff Newland was allowed a credit against the State of 47½ cents on the dollar on $14,508 worth of personal property upon which he could collect no tax. G. B. Cooper was allowed $525 for making in, dices and other work. The salary of the county judge was raised to $800; the county attorney's to $620 and the school superintendent's to $800. An order was made to have the roads redistricted and measured, report to be made to the court of levy in March. Adjourned finally Wednesday afternoon.
